California's Governor Favers It Universally; Observations by McNary.

"When motoring in California recent I met governor Hiram Johnson, id James siraham McNary, vice presi ent of the First National Bank knowing that California was the pofy to get the amanter of good roads. I explaine him that El Paso county was 100 at to vate on an issue of $100,00 ds for the construction of highway that much discussion was nature going on as to the character of the which should be built fasks which should be built fasks.

the hest we could do with the lunds available.

War Causes Delay.

"We had hoped to have the new highway completed both in the interior and on the coast from San Francisco to Loss Angeles and San Diego in time for our visitors this summer. The breaking out of the European war last year upset our calculations regarding the sale of bonds, so that our road building almost came to an strupt stop. We finally got around the difficulty by having the countries for which the highway was constructed, purchase the state bonds thermelves and in this way, were able to keep the work going and partially carry out our original plans. During the next three years this wants will spend $12,000,000 in the construction of concrete state highways and when we are through we or heard any sign of during 1000 miles of motoring in California.

Inspecting Centrete Hoad.

"Talso had the opportunity of meeting the contractor who has built more concrete highways than any other man in the state of California and saw the stretch of highway which he was working on in all the different stages of construction. Furing our ride through California we prayed at least a dozen different stretches where new connects county or state highway was being constructed. After the roudbed and been prepared and the ingredients distributed on the surface of the road, the preparation and laying of the concrete is all done mechanically by a iterally permanent, Material, Used Old Material,

As California was the first state of set the pace for improved state high-ray building, has probably built more that highway than any other state in the highway than any other state in the union, and has at present a more omprehensive plan laid out for future cad building than any other state, it would appear that El Pase county ould safely follow her example and smells by her experience in the mater of road building.

could safely follow her example and benefit by her experience in the matter of road building.

Profit by Experience.

"It is very gratifying indeed to see the statement by commissioner Pendell that our county commissioners will certainly visit California and study the road building methods employed there. There are probably to be found in our minist plenny of wise citizens who will set their own individual opinions and prejudice up against California's 10 years' experience backed by an expenditure of at least $19,000,000 and who will turn down and condemn the whole idea of concrete roads with one shake of the head or shrug of the shoulders; but if our county commissioners will approach the problem from an intelligent and unprejudiced point of view, and I have no doubt wintever that they will, and study the problem of concrete, roads at first hand in California, it is safe to conclude that they will expend at least a considerable portion of the proceeds of the new hoad issue in giving El Paso county some roads which will not, inside of three years, go to pleces and become very much warse than an osdinary dirt road.

The people of this county don't want any more cordurely roads alke we new have between here and Anthony. Let us elther be content with a good gravel road of economical cost, such as New Mexico has laid between Anthony and Lae Cruces, or else let us have the most permanent road that our money will line we will have a system of highways in this county to which we can point with pride, even as California points with pride to her beautiful roads.
